

$L1\sqrt{ERP\%L}$

COUNTS
AT HOME

Roots

Back in the 1970's there was a hit tv show called 'Roots' that sparked an explosion of people looking back in their family tree.

In 2016 in the United States, a new mini-series was made. This led to thousands of people wanting to search back in time through their own family.

You and your teen could do the same.

Ask them to set a time line back say 75 years, that will take you back to the 1940's, wartime.

This is a good opportunity for them to find out what happened in your family. Most elderly relatives would have been children then but their memories will probably be vivid.

Visit your local cemetery and work out the average life span by taking dates off the gravestones. Can you find family graves and work out their life spans?

Most people find this really interesting, on the next page there are some sites to help you.

$L1\sqrt{ERP\%L}$

COUNTS
AT HOME

Family Search

<https://familysearch.org/>

Find My Past

<http://www.findmypast.co.uk/>

Ancestry

www.ancestry.co.uk/

Afrigeneas

<http://www.afrigeneas.com/>

Billion Graves.com

<https://billiongraves.com>

Find a Grave

<http://www.findagrave.com/>

Fold 3

<https://www.fold3.com/>

This is a US site and contains military records.

My Heritage

<https://www.myheritage.com/>

Newspaper Archive.com

<http://newspaperarchive.com/uk/>

Make sure you get the British papers part and it does cost.

To Pay or Not To Pay? A guide to choosing genealogy sites on the internet

The BBC have an excellent article about whether you should pay genealogy sites or not,

it is here,

http://www.bbc.co.uk/history/familyhistory/get_started/paying_for_research_01.shtml